

AEDE SUPER HEROS CAMP

In a world of typical day camps...
there is a place where children can go to explore the athletic side of creativity:

Join us for a one-of-a-kind camp experience where clowning technique and superhero training meet improv skill to enhance girls' and boys' motor skills, balance, empathy, and creativity.

Campers will be exposed to actual techniques to create their own, unique "clown" - a character that they will develop, and who will be used in advanced play scenarios.

If the Justice League™ has taught us anything, it is that everybody has a power deep within him/her - and that using physical and mental skill together to solve problems is a super power all its own. Campers will work on various balance and strength skills that coincide with a story line they will develop together to become their own perfect heroes.

As children grow into adolescents, and with overexposure to all sorts of stimuli, they need to make quick and effective decisions every day to learn and grow - and keep themselves and one another safe. Using improv skills, students will tap into a heightened sense of awareness and mental acuity that will help them develop their ability to find good instincts and trust them.
